

Inspired by Nature

Invented by Nichia

Only nature produces a brighter, warmer, more dependable light than Nichia, creator of the white LED. And like nature, Nichia covers the entire range of white, from warm to cool and everything in between...for every architectural lighting application on earth. Our LEDs are also nature-friendly, using far less energy than traditional lighting while running cooler and lasting longer. So, when it comes to your lighting needs, the sky's the limit. Ask for the original white LED, only from Nichia.
